

Soldier, Soldier (ukulele)

C

Soldier, Soldier, will you marry me now

Am

with a "hee" and a "ho" to the sound of a drum?

C

Oh no, fair maid, I couldn't marry you for I don't have no boots/socks/shirt/suit/hat to put on.

G

C

C

So she went to the shop just as quick as she could run

Am

with a "hee" and a "ho" to the sound of a drum,

C

and she bought him a boots/socks/shirt/suit/hat
of the very, very best, saying:

"Here, my good man, put this/these on."

End:

C

Soldier, Soldier, will you marry me now

Am

with a "hee" and a "ho" to the sound of a drum?

C

Oh no, fair maid, I couldn't marry you

C

because I have my own wife at home.
